

“Happy Days Are Here Again”:
The Great Depression and Recovery in North Carolina
2009 Summer Teacher Institute
July 13–16, 2009

Sponsored by
North Carolina Museum of History,
North Carolina State Historic Sites, North Carolina State Archives,
National History Day in North Carolina, and North Carolina Department of Cultural Resources

The stock market rises and falls. A shaky economy means job losses, business closings, changed lives. Is it 1929 or 2009? Lessons from the past can help us cope with hard times today. How do government and businesses stimulate growth? How do people reshape their lives as they hope for returning prosperity? Topics include work, social programs, home life, food, entertainment, and recreation.

Take back to your classroom a variety of resources, including primary source material from this relevant period. Interact with speakers, participate in discussions, and try new hands-on activities. Join us for this four day program in Raleigh as we explore the Great Depression and the New Deal, the effect on North Carolina, and its comparison to the economic crisis of today.

Location: North Carolina Museum of History, Raleigh

For all grade levels; particularly relevant to middle grades social studies and high school United States history

Recertification Credits

Participants who complete the institute will receive a certificate for thirty (30) contact hours toward recertification in social studies. Please check with your school district to verify eligibility.

Registration fee: $40

Includes breakfast and lunch each day and extensive classroom resources

Note: Due to budget cuts this year, we will be unable to reimburse for lodging and dinner.

Registration deadline: June 12, 2009

The North Carolina Department of Cultural Resources is committed to providing accessible programs for all North Carolinians. Please let us know if you require special assistance to attend these workshops.

This program is presented as part of “Treasure N.C. Culture,” a yearlong celebration of North Carolina culture and heritage. For more information, access www.ncculture.com.

2009 Summer Teacher Institute Registration Form
“Happy Days Are Here Again”:
The Great Depression and Recovery in North Carolina
July 13–16, 2009
9:00 a.m.–5:00 p.m.

Name: _____

Home address: _____

City/State/Zip: _____

School: _____

County: _____

Telephone: Work _____ Home _____ Cell _____

School e-mail: _____

Home e-mail: _____

Grade(s) taught: _____ Subject(s) taught: _____

	Fees	Cost	Amount
	Registration	$40	$
Total enclosed			$

Workshop lunch preference:

- _____ Standard
 _____ Vegetarian
 _____ Vegetarian, no dairy

Registration is limited and accepted in the order received.

Breakfast and lunch are provided. You are responsible for your own lodging and dinner.

Please return this form and your check, money order, or purchase order, payable to Federation of N.C. Historical Societies, by June 12, 2009, to:

Summer Teacher Institute
 Karen Pochala-Peck
 4610 Mail Service Center
 Raleigh, NC 27699-4610

Questions? Contact Charlotte Sullivan at 919-807-7995 or charlotte.sullivan@ncdcr.gov.