

Tar Heel Junior Historian Magazine Subscription

The Tar Heel Junior Historian magazine is published in the fall and the spring for members of the Tar Heel Junior Historian Association (THJHA). Since 1953, THJHA has been encouraging the study of local and state history by North Carolina's young people. Students in grades four through 12 can form a THJHA club, as long as it includes one adult adviser. Membership in the association is FREE! For more information about Tar Heel Junior Historian or the Tar Heel Junior Historian Association, call Jessica Pratt, THJHA program coordinator, at 919-814-7043 or e-mail her at thjhaclubs@ncdcr.gov. For more info, you can also check the North Carolina Museum of History's website at ncmuseumofhistory.org

Subscriptions are $8 per year (two issues). Single copies of the current issue are $4.
